DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ballard (U.S. Patent No. 3,595,339) in view of Murray (U.S. Patent No. 2,206,234). Ballard discloses a walking support for a leg. The support comprises a boot portion (boot housing 10), a subfloor portion (13) and a spring (15). However, Ballard device fails to specifically teach a pair of elongated tubular members affixed to and extending upwards from the subfloor portion wherein the spring element freely moves within each tubular member. However, Murray, which also relates to a walking aid, teaches that it is known to employ a pair of tubular members wherein the spring element freely moves within each tubular member (Murray, Figs. 3-4). Thus, in view of the teaching of Murray, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to design the stilt boots of

Art Unit: 3743

Ballard to include tubular member affixed to and extending from the subfloor portion for the purpose of aiding a person to walk.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yagn (U.S. Patent No. 438,830), King (1,575,847), Weighill (U.S. Patent No. 2,923,947), Smith (U.S. Patent No. 3,058,120), Godwin (U.S. Patent No. 3,278), Leumi (U.S. Patent No. 3,201,876), Spina (U.S. Patent No. 3,660,920) Chapel (4,088,3326), Speer (U.S. Patent No. 4,927,137), Armstrong (U.S. Patent No. 5,645,515) and Jay (U.S. Patent No. 6,648,803).
